Renewing the face of the earth † Empowered by the Holy Spirit

FEBRUARY 2012 - VOLUME XXXVIII NUMBER 2

“Authentic knowledge of the God of mercy, the God of tender love, is a constant and inexhaustible source of conversion...”

John Paul II, Dives in Misericordia

“We realize that God, in showing us mercy, calls upon us to become witnesses to mercy in today’s world.”

“Do This In Memory of Me”

by Jim Murphy

When we hear these words, we naturally associate them with Christ’s command to continue the Eucharistic celebration. You and I are able to receive the Eucharist today because for 2,000 years, the Church has obeyed that command to continue the Eucharist “in memory” of Him. Of course, “in memory” does not mean a fond recollection of something that is over and done, but rather an ongoing, living reality that is made present in our time and space when we gather in His name.

I would suggest that, while the Eucharist is the ultimate response to “do this in memory of me,” this command must be lived out in the entire life of the Christian. Hopefully, all we say, all we do, all we endure, we do so in memory of Him who gave so much, endured so much, suffered so much for us. If we are truly His disciples, we must do everything “in memory of” - in union with - Him.

The activity of the Holy Spirit in the heart and life of the believer brings about a tremendous change within the individual. Sin and selfishness is rooted out. Priorities change. Cold hearts become inflamed with supernatural love.

This supernatural love often is first directed towards God, who the soul now recognizes as the source of its life. By the action of the Holy Spirit, the Christian falls madly in love with God (...the love of God has been poured out into our hearts through the Holy Spirit that has been given to us. Romans 5:5).

As the relationship between God and the soul of the believer deepens, a new phase begins; the soul’s expansion to love others. This love is not in exclusion to loving God, but rather a natural expansion and maturing of love. To love God is to love all that God loves....and God loves all! It is a serious disconnect for a Christian to say that they love God but don’t love others (If anyone says “I love God,” but hates his brother, he is a liar; for whoever does not love his brother whom he has seen cannot love God whom he has not seen. 1 John 4:20) The believer’s heart is so filled with love that it splashes out on all whom they encounter!

As has happened so many times in this Renewal in the Holy Spirit, something I was taught as a little child so many years ago now has come alive in my life in a vibrant and lived-out way.

*“A friend loves
AT ALL TIMES.”*

PROVERBS 17:17, NRSV

From Virginia's Desk

At the WWCCR office, we have meetings with our many committees regularly. Most of them meet once a month for prayer and planning. One of the comments that is often made (tongue in cheek) is that we need to expand the office – build a second floor, build underground parking, remove all the interior walls! The happy reality is we are bursting at the seams - what a problem to have!

The School of Healing Prayer that began in January had to find a larger facility because there were too many students and team members to fit in our building. Thanks be to God, we were able to rent space at a nearby Episcopal church for all but one of the Saturdays that the School is meeting this year.

There have been several times in this past year when we had two meetings going on at the same time, or we had a healing prayer team praying in the chapel while a meeting was going on in our large meeting room.

In addition to the activities at the WWCCR

office, there is a waiting list for the Women's Retreat because all available spaces are filled, and the students for our Hispanic Instituto are filling a parish hall.

But the wonder of all this is not so much about the space as it is about the depth of commitment and quantity of time and energy that the volunteers are investing. This "bursting at the seams" is a happy symptom of the good work that God is accomplishing through the people and programs of WWCCR.

All this activity also requires additional infrastructure. It takes a lot of time and skill to communicate with many volunteers, to prepare the promotion for many events, to process registrations and requests for information, to keep our database current and many other such tasks.

Every day we are aware of our inadequacy to do this work, and every day we are aware of God's amazing grace in accomplishing His purpose. If you asked me how we get it all done, I would answer, "I don't know." If you had told me five years ago that we

Listen
Hear
Understand
Grow

would have so many programs and activities going on, I would have said, "Impossible." But God isn't in the habit of asking us what we think or how much we can do. Rather, God provides what we need in the moment and reveals His strength and His power by accomplishing the impossible through our weakness.

At this time in the history of WWCCR, we are witnessing dramatic growth. I firmly believe it is for the sake of the new evangelization that this is happening. It is through the grace of God and the obedience and love of many individuals and groups that God is fulfilling his purpose in our day.

And this is not only for WWCCR, but for all in Charismatic Renewal throughout the world, and indeed for the whole Church. Please intentionally participate in the Day of Prayer and Fasting on Feb 17 (see p. 4). In addition, please continue in some form of intentional prayer and fasting throughout Lent for the people and programs of WWCCR. We cannot begin to know how important our intercession is in the plan of God!

WWCCR VISION AND MISSION

Vision:

That all Catholics mature in a personal relationship with Jesus, empowered by the Holy Spirit, to the glory of God the Father.

Mission:

Our mission is to renew the face of the earth by nurturing and inspiring Catholics:

- ❖ To experience a personal relationship with Jesus Christ through baptism in the Holy Spirit
- ❖ To fan into flame the gifts we receive through the Sacraments
- ❖ To develop a deeper life of prayer and worship

I think it was in preparation for my confirmation in the 4th grade that I had to memorize two lists, the Corporal and the Spiritual works of mercy:

CORPORAL WORKS OF MERCY:

- To feed the hungry
- To give drink to the thirsty
- To clothe the naked
- To harbor the harbourless
- To visit the sick
- To ransom the captive
- To bury the dead

SPIRITUAL WORKS OF MERCY:

- To instruct the ignorant
- To counsel the doubtful
- To admonish sinners
- To bear wrongs patiently
- To forgive others willingly
- To comfort the afflicted
- To pray for the living and the dead

At the time, they were simply lists I had to recite at the proper time to prove I was ready for Confirmation. Today, as a result of the Holy Spirit touching my soul with transforming fire these two lists are now the marching orders of my life!

48 hours ago, I returned from Mexico City, where I coordinate a missionary outreach for Renewal Ministries. On these week-long trips, I lead a team to visit an orphanage, work in a home for senior men, and spend three days working in a garbage dump. In the dump we set up a medical clinic, distribute food and clothing, and just interact with our friends as best as we are able. We always have time for prayer, the proclamation of the word, and on special occasions, even have Mass in the dump. We bring toys for the children and last week had several hundred kids milling around a few piñatas we had brought along. We cut hair, play jump rope, and fly kites. We sit in the dirt and color in our coloring books with the children.

To be honest, it is at times overwhelming to see so much sorrow, so much poverty. Yet, a particular grace is given to those who come to do what they need to do. I was struck by something I read recently from the Catherine of Siena Institute's Called & Gifted Program which made this comment describing the charism of mercy:

“The charism of Mercy empowers a Christian to be a channel of God’s love through practical deeds of compassion that relieve the distress of those who suffer and help them experience God’s love.

Although those with the charism of mercy feel the pain of others deeply, they do not find working with the needy depressing or draining but rather mysteriously compelling, renewing and fulfilling.”

This was the part of the quote that caught my attention, as it so accurately describes what I see in myself and the people who work with me. Yes there are tears (at times the whole experience seems a bit surreal) but the team experiences great joy, peace, and almost a divine exhilaration from the experience of working with the poor.

Rodrigo, one of my teammates who lives in Mexico, always reminds us “The poor don’t need us but we certainly need them.” Everyone nods in agreement. People talk about the joy and freedom that comes with serving those in need. People come to realize that there are not many differences in us whatever our economic status is. There is a wealth in all of us...and a poverty in all of us.

As my team boards the bus for the dump,

I always tell them a story about Mother Theresa. Mother Theresa had been showing a reporter around her compound in Calcutta. The reporter rather cynically pointed out to Mother that her work was barely a drop in the bucket. For all the people she did help she wasn’t able to help everyone. The reporter ended his tirade with “In light of all that is not being accomplished, can you really call yourself successful, Mother?” The story goes that the woman took a breath, looked at the ground for a few moments, then responded to the reporter with a smile, “God never asked me to be successful, He only asked me to be faithful.”

I see faces relax when they hear that story as they realize they are not required to save the whole world. They only have to show up, and do their part to be “faithful” to God. They can’t make all the pain go away....but they can enter into the pain...and in doing so bring life, love, and hope.

“The charism of Missionary empowers a Christian to be a channel of God’s goodness to others by effectively and joyfully using their charisms in a second culture.” This above definition, also from Catherine of Siena Institute, really captures what service is all about.

2011 Financial update

To God be the glory for all the sacrificial giving of time, talent and treasure that WWCCR received in 2011. We very nearly made our goal between Nov 1st and December 31 of raising $36,000 to end the year “in the black.” A total of $30,850.42 in donations came in during those two months.

Thank you to all who gave your regular donations and all who made special donations!

In addition to the total above, an additional special donation was received in December that is designated for GLEANINGS expenses in 2012. Because it is a designated gift, and because it is for 2012 expenses, I chose not to include it when calculating the amount we received to help us “bridge the gap” at the end of the year. I also have shown it being subtracted out of our year-to-date total in the ledger below, because I felt it was more realistic to show the slightly negative balance.

In analyzing our financial reports, it is very apparent that the Auction we held in May was critical to our being able to meet our financial obligations. This year, we are not planning an auction, but instead we are working on plans for a dinner and concert featuring The Priest & the Publicans (Fr. Armando Guzmán & friends) and Fr. Jim Northrop, and others. If you are interested in helping with the planning for this special event, please contact Michael Koontz, who is a member of our Board of Directors: mmkoontz1@msn.com or 425-750-4843.

Our monthly financial obligations average about $26,000. Our donors who give monthly or quarterly are very important to sustaining this ministry. If you haven’t already returned the Response Card that was included in the January GLEANINGS and also included in a letter mailed to you in January, please try to do that right away (additional 2012 Response Cards can be downloaded from our website or by calling the WWCCR office). Every gift is important. The Lord will bless and multiply each gift for the good of His Kingdom! And He will bless each cheerful giver! Thank you and God bless you!

*“Each one should give what he as decided in his own mind, not grudgingly or because he is made to, for God loves a cheerful giver.
And there is no limit to the blessings which God can send you – He will make sure that you will always have all you need for yourselves in every possible circumstance, and still have something to spare for all sorts of good works.”*

One question that often rises up among my missionary friends is; "How is it that I can be so open, warm, and loving to people I don't even know...but don't treat my own people at home with the same attitudes I have here?" Ironically, most team members feel convicted to re-invest in their relationships at home, work, and the local parish with the same intensity that they served in Mexico. The old adage that Charity begins at home really takes on new meaning.

Compassion, charity, patience should not be only "exported" to other cultures, but practiced radically right where we live.

As Lent approaches, we all have an opportunity to go deeper into living the corporal and spiritual works of mercy. Prayer, fasting, almsgiving, three of the practices of Lent, can all contribute to a theology of mercy and mission. (Did you know that the word alms is derived from a Greek word for mercy?) These three disciplines can either be "going through the motions" or they can be a journey to the depths of the heart.

As we surrender ourselves to the love of God, we become much more open to sharing that love with others. Whether we share this love in a garbage dump, a local convalescent home, or with a teenager or elder living in our own home...we can do it all, in memory of Him.

The love and 'pouring out of self' that Christ demonstrated so fully in His life and death, must become the way that we live and die...in memory of Him.

Let this be the focus of your Lent.

Intercessory Prayer Network (IPN)

The Intercessory Prayer Network (IPN) is comprised of all who have offered to pray regularly for God's will to be accomplished through the people and programs of WWCCR. We know that prayer changes things!

Please pray for God to bring about His desires through the work of preparation and the events you see in this newsletter and calendar; particularly the events WWCCR is sponsoring, and also...

- that the light and love of Christ would shine through all of His followers in acts of love and works of mercy, and so draw others to new life in Him;
- for the Women's Retreat and St. Joseph Healing Retreat; that those who present and those who attend would come away with a deeper "knowing" of God and His love for them;
- for the Lord to bring about His purposes through the ministry and activities of WWCCR;
- for the ongoing resources of time, talent, and treasure required to do the work He has given WWCCR to do.

Preparing for Lent

From the Editor
by Tammie Stevens

As I prepare for Lent this year, I am reflecting on the role of the Holy Spirit in Jesus' baptism and 40 days in the desert.

In Mark 1:8 John the Baptist says: "I have baptized you with water; he will baptize you with the holy Spirit." In the next verse Jesus is baptized by John and the Holy Spirit descends upon him and then drives him into the desert. I wonder what the relationship is between Jesus being baptized by John and Jesus baptizing us in the Holy Spirit? I wonder what connection there is between the Holy Spirit descending on Jesus at his baptism and the Holy Spirit driving him into the desert?

In his 1998 Lenten message John Paul II recalled that in the desert "Jesus gave witness to His complete surrender to the will of the Father. ... The season of Lent is a journey of conversion in the Holy Spirit, encountering God in our life. ... it is a place of dependence on God, of meditation and of the essential."

Lord, as I ponder Jesus' baptism help me reflect on the full meaning and purpose of my Baptism. Reveal to me, in a deeper way, the reality of the grace of the Holy Spirit in my life; that this grace would drive me to grow in holiness!

Let this 40 days be a time of surrendering our will, leaning on the power of the Holy Spirit. May we be united with Jesus in our dependence on God so that He may reveal what is truly essential for our lives. ♦
